VOL. XXI.

STANFORD, KY., TUESDAY, JUNE 27, 1893.

NO. 34

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

A fellow showing a petrified man raked in a large number of dimes here last week.

Mr. J. R. Marrs, of the Record-Homestead is to be the Chief Deputy of Collector Rhodes. He is a worthy man and will make an excellent officer.

The band boys leave to-night for Harrodsburg, where they play to-morrow and next day for the annual meeting of Kentucky Division of American Wheelmen. About 800 bicyclists are expected to be present.

The battle on the liquor question culminated in a victory for the friends of "local option," by a majority of 271 in civil district No. 1—the majority being in precinct No. 1, 111; No. 2, 39; No. 3, 121, thus carrying every precinct in the district. The applicants for the vote numbered 201, but the total vote cast against local option was only 189, which fell short of the petitioners' 112 votes. The total vote cast for local option was 460. There was some trouble over the ballots, but the temperance people agreed to use whatever official ballot was furnished them by the officers at the polls, rather than have any hitch in the election. The ticket prepared and used had a device on the word "yes" under the question as to "whether the local option law now in force should become inoperative." The device consisted of the portrait of a female. The temperance side had no device above the word "No," and claimed that there was no provision in the law for a device upon a question of this sort. The election passed off quietly, notwithstanding the intense interest manifested in the result. A monster meeting was held at the court-house on Saturday night and brief addresses delivered by Elders Surber, Frank, Walden and Reva Greer and Terrey, and by Capt. Herndon, Letcher Owsley and a colored speaker named Fletcher.

It is said that this settles the question or three years and that another vote cannot be taken until the end of that time. The drift of the speeches indicated that they now propose to move immediately upon the works of the "Blind Tigers." Contrary to expectations a large colored vote was cast for local option, chiefly through the influence of Fletcher, the colored speaker. It is thought, The Lancaster Concert Band furnished excellent music for most of the meetings of the W. C. T. U. and the singers of the churches were on hand and took part in all of the exercises. Twelve ministers of the gospel participated in the meetings at different times, viz: Messrs. Green and Young, of the Methodist church; McKee, Worrall, Terrey and Heddleston, of the Presbyterian; Cheek and Frank, Allen, Kendrick, Yaucy, Walden and Surber, of the Christian church.

The wife of Sanders Ashton, a Marshall county farmer, who has been married 30 years, caught her husband in a compromising situation with another woman and now there's trouble in the family.

George Hale, the infant son of Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Ward, died at Somerset. Mrs. Ward was Miss Hannah Fair, an alumna of Stanford College. The Republican also notes the death of Mrs. Jas. T. May, aged 38.

A cyclone swept up to the suburbs of Atlanta Thursday, but then broke in two and went around the city on each side. The Atlantians were badly scared, but not much hurt. Outside the city a number of houses were roofed or otherwise damaged.

During the entire history of the government down to 1871 there were coined only 8,045,838 silver dollars. Since 1878 there have been coined 419,294,835 silver dollars, or 50 times as many as during the whole period of the free use of silver for money.

A special from Wheeling, W. Va., states that Wm. Waugh was struck by lightning, the current of electricity "as it passed through the bottom of his shoes making a large hole in them and tearing the metal buckle off one of them, his pantaloons and hat being torn to shreds."

The proposed lease of the convicts by the Mason-Ford Co. has been declared off. Treasurer Hale demanded that the contract should be made to conform to the law governing contracts between landlord and tenant, but the company objected and negotiations were accordingly ended.

A United States judge has decided that State laws prohibiting the sale of cigarettes is in contravention of article 1 of section 8 of the constitution of the United States, and null and void in so far as it prohibits or attempts to prohibit, selling, giving or furnishing to any one by an importer.

It is said that petitions are being secretly circulated and a well developed movement set on foot to have a new State formed of west Tennessee, west Kentucky, south Illinois, southeast Missouri, east Arkansas and north Mississippi. The scheme is to have Jackson, Tenn., the capital. There is talk of bringing the matter before the next Congress.

THE OLD HOMESTEAD.

E. C. W. Pays a Visit to His Childhood's Home.

The weather has been so intensely hot since my last letter that I have chosen the shade and quietude of my sister's country home rather than roving around in city or country, but I summoned sufficient energy to run down to Richmond the other day for a few hours' sojourn. I found the grand old capital in a prosperous condition and could not fail to notice the many improvements of various kinds that have been made since my last visit of some three years ago.

Richmond is growing westward and what was a pasture for the neighborhood cows three years ago is now the site of the handsomest residence portion of the city. What was then a corn field is now the grounds of a veritable palace. Things have changed in three short years, but as they are for the better, we old ex-Virginians look back with a pardonable pride and take pleasure in bidding her God-speed.

Richmond has since the day of the Exchange and Ballard Hotel been just a little behind in the procession in the hotelery line. Ford's Hotel, which is probably the best, is not in correspondence with the city. While the Dodeon, the St. Claire, St. Charles and others are good, they are hardly equal to the wants of the bon ton tourist. This want of a No. 1 hotel will soon be filled now, for a grand one is being built and will be known as "The Jefferson." It is in the central portion of town and will cost nearly a million.

Capital Square in Richmond is a delightful place and a regular god-send this hot weather. The grounds are lovely and laid out with much ingenuity and preciseness. Comfortable seats under the large shade trees are occupied by hundreds of people, who enjoy the cheap luxury and who spend many idle hours there. There are a number of monuments and other things of interest in this beautiful park, but as you have been told about them in previous letters, I withhold another mention and description of them.

In the capital are many things that lovers of history could spend day after day in looking at. Old battle flags, guns, uniforms that were worn by the warriors of several wars are there and the blood stains on them are calculated to make the Young America turn heartsick at what their fathers went through in the cruel days of war.

While Richmond is growing and spreading her wings to the four corners of Henrico county, the city of the dead Hollywood Cemetery is not lying idle, but is filling up at a distressingly rapid rate. There are several cemeteries round Richmond, but Hollywood is the largest and most interesting one to the stranger. Besides large monuments to private citizens, there is the Confederate monument, overlooking 12,000 graves of brave men, who lost their lives in the struggle for the Lost Cause. The ashes of Ex-Presidents Tyler and Monroe lie there, while the body of the beloved Jefferson Davis has recently been deposited in that sacred earth. A niece and nephew of mine are also buried in Hollywood and it is a sweet but sad pleasure for me to visit their little graves and think of dear Ella Lee and Claiborne as bright angels in the Father's Kingdom.

In my peregrinations around Richmond I wandered out toward the penitentiary and was very much surprised to find that the buildings of old had proven inadequate and that a large addition had been built. This does not look well for the Old Dominion and it rather distresses me to think that the mother of statesmen, the queen of them all—Virginia—finds it necessary to enlarge her prison walls in the hour of peace and prosperity.

Virginia has recently built a reformatory for young and less hardened criminals at Laurel, between Richmond and Ashland, and it is pretty well filled with evil-doers. Persons, particularly young ones, are sent there when found guilty of minor offenses and instead of the incarceration they would be compelled to stand in jail or penitentiary, they are given a good deal of liberty and an effort is made to teach them as high a sense of honor as it is possible. They are permitted to attend church and have a good many other privileges, but are made to work each day at various trades that are taught.

Since beginning this so called communication I have had the pleasure of a visit to my old home—the place where I first saw the light and where now lie all that is earthly of a loving and indulgent father and mother. The old homestead has changed and the change is sadly for the worse.

It was my father's great pride to keep the residence, the outbuildings, the fences and in fact everything around the dear old place in good repair, but 12 long years have elapsed since then and the ravages of time are plainly evident. The hinges have rusted, The doors have tumbled down, And the roof lets in the sunshine and rain.

Notwithstanding my sorrow that the old place was rapidly going the downward road to ruin, I greatly enjoyed a walk through the fields and forests that are still so familiar to me. Each tree, each fence and even the turns in the road across the old plantation suggested pleasing incidents of my younger days when I lived there happy and contented in the little world of our own.

Our home was not as modern as the structures of the present rapid age, it was far out into the country, and probably we did not have all the luxuries that people now have, but it was home to me, and I love the old place and never will I miss an opportunity to visit it. Few pleasures to me are greater and when I turn my back in departure it is with a heavy heart, even if it is not what it used to be.

I met a good many old friends and former schoolmates while around the old place and that within itself was worth ten times the trouble of the trip. Many of them I had not seen for years and many had grown from school boys to the heads of households, but the time hadn't affected me and I dare say our conversations were far more fitting for school boys than for "grown up" boys.

Strayed, a black sow, two notches in one ear and underbit in other. Information will be appreciated. J. B. Foster.

G. G. Leach, who lives near Trezevant, Tenn., got a net profit of $123.36 off of 1 of an acre of strawberries during the past season.

John Hill sold to Prewitt & Wood a bunch of yearling heifers and steers at 3 cents. John Murphy sold to the same firm a bunch of hogs at 5½c.

Will Moreland bought of J. W. Christian, of Chilchburg, 150 fat hogs at 6c and sold 130 feeders to Benzley Bros. at 6.75, 40 to David Logan and 20 to E. W. Lee at 6½c.

Many of our farmers are busy cutting wheat, which is nearly all ready for the harvester. The opinions as to the general yield vary. Local dealers are offering 50 and 55c.—Advocate.

Boundless, who ran third in the Kentucky Derby, won the American Derby at Chicago in a gallop and raked in the $50,000 pot. Hundreds of thousands of dollars changed hands on the result.

Daniel L. Bedinger, Frank H. Repert, Alfred N. Leader and John F. Stewart are the Kentuckians among the 87 special examiners who have been reappointed with salaries reduced from $1,400 to $1,300.

A Texas farmer whose cattle were lousy says he exterminated the vermin by cutting an onion in two and rubbing it all over them. It took two or three onions to each animal, but it was effective, as not a live louse could be found two days afterward.

The crop of blue-grass seed is very light this year. S. D. Goss will have about 3,500 bushels, which will probably exceed that of any other man in the country. Twenty-five cents at the strip-per or 40c cured seems to be the prevailing prices.—Richmond Register.

Nashville, Tenn., March 6, 1893.—The Stockton Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. Gentlemen—It gives me exceeding pleasure to speak of your Antiseptic, as I consider it something wonderful in the way of medicine. My old servant Albert, who is 72 years old, was very sick with Pneumonia, complicated with Heart Trouble and Dropsy. I called in my family physician and gave him every attention, but the doctor finally told me there was no hope and the only thing that could be done was to make him comfortable until the end. At this point I decided to give him Stockton's Antiseptic, as it seemed to be performing almost miracles for others. It was given in regular doses every three hours, and the fever began to decrease from the first dose and a decided improvement was noticed the first day. In three days he was sitting up and in a week he was back at his work as usual, and regained his strength very fast. I conscientiously believe it saved the old man's life.

Respt., Frank Searight, No. 5 Noel Block.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

The Deering Camp Meeting begins Aug. 10 with a number of distinguished divines as drawing cards. The High Bridge meeting will begin July 21 and have Sam Jones for four days.

Miss Olive Downing Alford and Jas. P. Nelson were married at Lexington and have gone with Mr. and Mrs. Thoe. Nelson Page to spend their honeymoon at Oakwood, Va. The groom is a cousin of Mr. Page.

Mr. Monroe Brown, a young widower, of Casey, and Miss Martha Estes, a fair Lincoln county damsel, were married at Mr. Wilson Estes' on the 24th, Friday, which seems to be a popular day for such ceremonies.

Elder Joe Severance, Jr., performed his first marriage ceremony Saturday, when he united for life Mr. M. W. Vaught and Miss Lou Etha Vaught. The ceremony occurred at Mr. Joe Severance's. The young parson stood the ordeal fully as well as the couple he joined together, but the knees of all three smote together pretty lively.

Fourteen years ago James Scarlett and Miss Belle Gibbons were married at Mitchell, Ind. The marriage proved a failure and after eight months Jim left his Belle. She procured a divorce and both married, a number of children blessing the union of each. Belle's husband died and Jim got a divorce from his wife a few months ago. Then they met again and the old love being rekindled he once more laid successful siege to Belle's heart and Sunday he married her again.

Miss Bettie Parsons, the attractive and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Parsons, was married in Louisville on the 21st to Mr. Sherman W. Ferris, and will be at home to their friends after the 1st, at 110 Central Avenue, Lexington. Miss Bettie is an excellent young lady, and the man who has won her has secured a prize.

Mr. Ferris is a member of the faculty of the A. M. College, at Lexington and is said to be an excellent gentleman. As his bride is a school teacher they ought to find much congeniality in each other.

It is reported that Congressman W. C. P. Breckinridge is shortly to marry Miss Madeline Breckinridge Pollard. She is a native of Fayette county, where she now lives with her mother. She is poor, but very ambitious. Several years ago Miss Pollard obtained a position under the government in the interior department at Washington. It was she who made the remark when Sherman died that "the devil had gotten his own." The remark made her famous at the time, but was the means of depriving her of her position. She was summarily "fired" by President Harrison.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

Rev. A. V. Sizemore will preach at Logan's Creek next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Lutheran is the fourth religious denomination in this country, having 1,235,000 communicants. Its total membership throughout the world is about 50,000,000.

The old-time Baptists in the outlying districts of Pulaski still observe the ancient and malodorous custom of foot-washing. The Brent congregation went through it last week.

The General Christian Missionary Society of the Christian Church will change the place of its annual meeting, now that Chicago has demonstrated her wickedness by opening the Fair on Sunday.

The Methodists, instead of withdrawing their exhibit from the World's Fair on account of Sabbath opening, will cover it with canvas on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday. (See Micah 7:3.)—Lon. Times.

A mission of the Baptist church here was established at Colley's School-house Sunday by Rev. A. V. Sizemore, assisted by Rev. J. H. Julian. The band of fellowship was given to 18 and seven will be baptized on the second Sunday in July.

The faculty of the new Presbyterian Theological Seminary at Louisville has been selected and it includes Revs. Wm. Hoge Marquess, who will be chairman, C. R. Hemphill, T. D. Witherspoon, F. R. Beattie, T. M. Hawes and Edwin Muller.

A late bulletin of the census department shows that the Southern Baptists have 657 associations, 16,206 organizations and 13,472 church edifices, valued at over $18,000,000. Kentucky has the largest membership, 152,668, but North Carolina is a wonderfully close second, with 153,648. Georgia has 137,680. There are 1,441 Baptist congregations in Kentucky. They exist in every county except seven or eight, the number of congregations to the county ranging from one each in Leslie, Robertson and Rowan to 40 each in Barren and Pulaski. The largest membership is in Jefferson, which has 19 organizations and 6,645 members, against 4,030 members in Barren, and 3,460 in Pulaski. The second county in point of membership is Owen, which has 3,003 members in 29 congregations.

EVERY FRIDAY.

Owing to a frivolous objection State Treasurer Hale has refused to confirm the lease of the 400 convicts to the Mason & Ford Company and the deal is off. The treasurer seems to have made a reputation as a weak and vacillating man and this additional confirmation of the fact fully establishes it. The action of Hale is a victory for Gov. Brown, who the Louisville Commercial says, has announced his intention to drive the concern from the State because members of the Mason & Ford Company favored Gen. Watt Hardin against John Young Brown for the democratic nomination for governor. The latter charge is made unequivocally and must therefore be accepted as true until it is denied authoritatively. It goes to prove that the governor is a very small man, even smaller than his enemies imagined, and that the people made a mistake in electing him their chief executive. The Mason-Ford Company is entirely responsible and as it seems it is the only firm willing to help take the white elephant off the hands of the State, no private or personal reasons should be taken into consideration in dealing with so important a public matter. We hope the governor has been misquoted and that our good opinion of him will remain unchanged. Never in the history of the State have administration matters been in such a muddle as at present in Frankfort. The Sinking Fund Commission, which sees after the penitentiary and other institutions, is torn into factions, each of which appears to think of personal victory more than the interests of the State. The latest war to break out is between Treasurer Hale and Secretary of State Headley, but as it is so far entirely on paper, no serious results are anticipated. The former published a card reflecting on the latter, who characterized it, also in a card, as "malicious, unmanly, cowardly, false and contemptible," adding that "he can settle his grievances with me without calling on the public." This seems to call for a fight, but it will end in smoke to be revived later on. A nice kettle of fish is that at Frankfort, to be sure.

The people of Kentucky will have greater cause for rejoicing on the "Glorious Fourth" than they have had for years. The Senate has adopted the House resolution to adjourn sine die July 3d and clinched it beyond possibility of reconsideration. Praise God from Whom all blessings flow! The body has cost the State more than half a million of dollars and the benefit is so small it can hardly be reckoned in dollars and cents. Let us give thanks when the cormorant has at last voluntarily relinquished the post it has taken with so much voraciousness.

It has been demonstrated that there are men on the pension lists who are drawing monthly stipends from the government for no other cause than that they are bald. If Brer, Polk Johnson had fit on the right side, wouldn't he be wallowing in clover now? Like poor Uncle Ned, he hasn't even a suspicion of capillary substance on the summit of his cranium, the place that the capillary substance ought to vegetate.

In order to relieve the money market by putting $7,534,000 in circulation Secretary Carlisle has given notice that the July interest due on government bonds July 1, will be paid at once. This plan was adopted under the last administration and worked most satisfactorily. The money is lying in the treasury idle and had just as well be doing the country some good.

The Columbia Spectator is an enterprising paper. Instead of telling how Gen. Wolford, whose home is in its town, was at the time of going to press, it copied a dispatch two days old from the Courier-Journal. This is a strange way to run a local newspaper.

The sugar bounty law will put $9,403,689.87 into the pockets of the sugar growers this year without justice or reason. This is one of the many unjust statutes passed by the republicans, which the new order of things ought to erase as quickly as possible.

This article in our last issue with reference to the establishment of factories here has already brought letters from practical men. The manager of the Middleboro Furniture Manufactory, who is an experienced man, desires to start a similar concern here.

There's never a sweet without its bitter. The adjournment of the Legislature will cause the suspension of the Daily Frankfort Capital and its return to the weekly form. We shall miss its pleasant daily visits.

The Senate killed the Bennett dog law and if the farmers would march upon Frankfort and kill the Senate it would be nothing more than retributive justice.

When Mrs. Jefferson Davis arrived at West Point, Saturday, she was met and warmly welcomed by Mrs. U. S. Grant. This evidence of disloyalty on the part of Mrs. Grant is shocking. But what are the republican papers going to do about it? They can't help themselves and it will be very grinding on the nerves to have to grin and bear it in silence.

It is said that figures won't lie, but the average farmer will say that Brer Harry Summers is somewhat of a liar himself when he attempts to prove by them that wheat can be raised profitably at 60 cents. That gentleman figures that at 20 bushels to the acre a profit of 33 1/3 per cent. is possible. It may be possible, but it is not very probable.

Another ex. catches onto his old job. Thomas C. Jones, of this State, has been appointed consul at Funchal, Madeira, the same position he held under Cleveland's former administration. He is an uncle of Senator Lindsay's wife and that accounts for the milk in the cocoanut. The Senator seems to be very near the throne of grace.

It is worth the Geneva consulate to Ben Ridgely ten times over to have his old boss, Marse Henry Watterson, write so prettily about him, as he did in a lengthy editorial in the Courier-Journal. It must have made him feel good all over and caused his hat band to burst, if anything could.

Princess Eclair with her 185 trunks, all as large as small-sized cottages, has left us and we common people of the United States will have to scuffle along as before without the presence of royalty. It is very sad, but by bracing up sufficiently we may be able to stand it, for awhile at least.

The World's Fair management will attempt to carry water on both shoulders by running wide open on Sundays and holding religious services in the afternoon, seemingly to forget that it is written, "Ye cannot serve God and mammon."

DAN E. O'SULLIVAN, of the Louisville Critic, is a candidate for the State Senate and if brains and "get-up" count for anything, he is as sure for the place as a cent is for a ginger cake.

Marshall county will vote on the local option question Aug. 5th and the air down there is already charged with caloric. The "drys" feel confident of victory.

The Connecticut house defeated the bill providing for a constitutional convention, 71 to 88, on a nearly strictly party division, the democrats voting for and the republicans against the bill.

Lebanon Junction is on quite a boom. A number of new houses are going up, real estate is advancing and at a recent sale of town lots they went off like hot cakes. This is the result of making it a terminal point.

Rev. John F. Thomas, presiding elder of the Frankfort district of the A. M. E. conference, was struck by the engine of a freight train near Parksville and instantly killed. He was 70 and had been preaching 52 years.

July 4 will be the occasion of a grand fireworks and electrical display at the World's Fair, which is expected to surpass all previous efforts. Excursions will be run from all leading cities and the attendance is expected to reach 500,000.

The Pacific Bank of San Francisco has failed for two millions.

More than 2,500 people witnessed the unveiling of the granite monument at Chicago Sunday, to the memory of the five executed anarchists, many of them sympathizers, but no disturbance occurred.

It is estimated that the force of the contact of the English war-ships, Camperdown and Victoria was equal to the blow that would be struck by a railroad train consisting of six Pullman cars drawn by the heaviest of locomotives, say one of 120 tons, running at a speed of 50 miles an hour.

The Sunday attendance at the World's Fair is a disappointment to the management. Only 79,163 people visited the great show Sunday, the workmen and their families not turning out as upon previous Sundays. The falling off is attributed to the closing of the United States exhibits and the closing down of the machinery.

3d—Wolfe, Lee, Owsley, Perry; Judge Stephen Tutt, Wolfe, collector.

4th—Lincoln, Pulaski, Wayne, Laurel; J. M. Carter, Lincoln, deputy collector.

5th—Knox, Clay, Leslie, Bell, White, Harlan; W. J. Candill, Knox.

6th—Magoffin, Floyd, Pike, Knott, Letcher; D. D. Sublett, Magoffin.

All the above will be sworn in July 1 at Richmond and when the office gets in working order the present storekeepers and gaugers will without unnecessary delay be replaced by democrats.

GRAB ORCHARD.

We hear there is to be a wedding today, but it has been talked of so long we do not state it as a fact.

Mrs. Carter and children, of London, are with Mrs. Magee. Mrs. Potter, of Manchester, has been with her sister, Mrs. Chas. Redd, Jr. The many friends of Miss Lizzie Gormley will regret to know that she leaves for Green Briar Springs July 1 to spend a couple of months. She will be greatly missed.

There was another baptizing at the river Saturday when four were immersed. This makes ten by baptism and five by uniting membership, 15 in all, to reward the ministers for their untiring efforts. Interest continues to grow and the large crowds are held spell-bound by the eloquent and yet simple manner in which the scriptures are explained by Messrs. Briney and Frank.

The latter, though but a mere boy, bids fair to make a name for himself in the pulpit. Much regret was expressed at the departure of C. E. Powell, who was assisting so nobly in the work, but sickness and appointments necessitated his leaving. We hope to have him with us again in the near future. Bro. Briney is working hard and zealously for the church here and doing great good for the cause of his Master.

Miss Hettie Harris is still very sick. Miss Martha Holdman is no better. Mrs. Nannie Pollard, widow of Judge John

Miss Georgia Lewis has gone to Green Briar with the hope of recuperating her energies, wasted by a 10-months' unremitting siege in the school-room. She will be there and at Rock Castle Springs several weeks.

Mrs. C. C. Parrish, of Clifton Forge, Va., is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. T. P. Hill. She is looking splendidly and is even handsomer than when she was Miss Mildred Lewis. She was accompanied by her fine little boy.

Miss May Adams passed up to her home from a lengthy visit to Chicago and the World's Fair, Friday. She was accompanied by Miss Jennie Kennedy, of Russellville, who will spend the summer with her and other friends in this section.

Mr. J. C. Rodger was here Saturday, but for reasons not necessary to state his sale of lots at Rowland, advertised for that day, did not occur. He is very enthusiastic over the idea of building a road to McKinney and the establishment of manufactures here, both of which he thinks would pay handsomely.

BINDER twine for sale cheap. J. H. Baughman.

MACHINE oil and binder twine at A. A. Warren's.

A NUMBER of our young people will attend the party to be given by John S. and Homer Baughman, near Danville, Thursday.

The premium list of the Lincoln County Fair is given in full on our 4th page and reference to it will show that it is unusually liberal.

A MOVEMENT is on foot to close the business houses here on July 4th. Let's all hands do so and celebrate the adjournment of the Legislature in befitting manner.

WHEAT cutting is in full blast now and a fine crop is being harvested. Our local millers, J. H. Baughman & Co., are only offering 55 cents for the new crop, but that is all that the market justifies.

OUR candidate's common grows space, Mr. John B. Mershon, a clever man and a good democrat, wants to be jailer and he has a goodly number of friends, who say they are going to see that he doesn't get a stone when he asks for bread.

Mr. J. B. DICKERSON, who has been keeping toll gate on the Danville pike for years, tells us that every person who went through his gate one day last week had the exact change, something that has never before happened since his connection with the pike.

THE Masons of McKinney fairly beat the record in their ceremonies on St. John's day attending the dedication of their handsome new hall. Over 500 tickets were sold and the crowd drawn thither was very large. The banquet was superb and the general good order which prevailed was very gratifying.

Mr. P. W. Green, proprietor of the Commercial Hotel, closed his saloon during the ceremonies, to his credit he said.

By the ambition of the attaches in this establishment is realized the Interior Journal will have to get a new force of printers. A. G. Huffman wants to be post-master, G. C. Keller, Jr., desires to serve the government in the public printing office at Washington, while Mr. Joe F. Waters wishes to be store-keeper and ganger. We haven't heard what Joe Chenault wants, but as his politics, like his person, is a little off color, he will probably be content with what he has.

The anti liquor license people won a signal victory at Lancaster Saturday, as we were sure they would. The majority is so decisive that the question ought to remain settled for the balance of the century at least. In a vote of 150, the anti's got a majority of 271 and they celebrated their victory by the ringing of church and other bells and a big jubilee meeting at night. As the grand jury has adjourned we suppose it is not dangerous to say we won a nice little wager on the result, made more than a month ago.

MAKING FIDELITY was sentenced Saturday. Judge Sauley asked him if he had anything to say why he should not pass sentence and his response was, "I am not satisfied with my trial." The sentence was then passed on him in a few words and was that he be confined at hard labor in the penitentiary for the period of his natural life. It was suspended, however, for 60 days pending an appeal from the lower court, which refused a new trial. There was no appreciable change in the prisoner's countenance during the sentence. He either has great hope or does not realize the gravity of his position.

THE sale of the Uncle Ed McRoberts property, on the south west corner of Main and Depot streets, occurred Saturday and it was bought by Moses D. Elmore, who now owns half the block. The price paid was $5,000, or about $4 a front foot. The buildings on it are in a very dilapidated condition, but they rent for over 12 per cent so there is no prospect that better ones will take their place under the new ownership, unless some one kindly applies the torch. The property was first offered in four parcels and then as a whole, only $2,395 being realized by the first plan. Considering everything the sale was a most satisfactory one to the sellers and shows that property has not depreciated in value here on account of the removal of the shops from Rowland. Mr. J. E. Bruce bought the two shares of stock in the L. & N. at $35.50.

THE CHICKEN. -Saturday's issue of the Danville Advocate contains a list of the appointments so far made by Collector C. H. Roden. Mr. J. R. Marrs, of the Record-Homestead, who seems to have given up the fight for the Danville post-office, gets the chief deputy's place, worth $1,900 a year; W. E. Bell, of Anderson, is to be second deputy at $1,500; C. R. Anderson, of Boyle; J. L. Simpson, of Jessamine; and J. M. Posey, of Anderson. will be stamp deputies, the pay ranging from $500 to $1,500, according to the amount of whisky made in their districts. Editor Thomas H. Fox gets a good place on the clerical force. Steve White, of Madison, Miss Mary E. Varon, of Lincoln, Mrs. Marstellow and Mrs. Foreman will also be clerks in the office at Richmond, with $1,200 salaries. The other appointments are being considered and will be announced as soon as made.

Miss LUCIE BEAZLEY is offering millinery very low now. She has also a line of ladies' underwear and hosiery, which she sells at bottom figures.

JUDGE SAULEY kept his court open yesterday in order to give the counsel in the Ferrell case time to prepare a bill of exceptions that he was willing to sign. His next court is not till the 3d Monday in August.

Mr. EMMETT McCORMACK desires to serve the people of Lincoln county in the capacity of assessor and tells them so in this issue. He is a competent, worthy man and a good democrat, and would fill the office very acceptably.

It rained part of the day Sunday, but it came down gently and did nothing but good. Yesterday was as bright, beautiful and pleasant as ever came in harvest time. The predictions for to-day are fair, warmer.

COLLECTOR RODEN has 159 places at his disposal, but he is not lacking for material for them. In fact he has a dozen applicants for each position. Under him will be 12 deputies, four clerks, one janitor, 47 store-keepers, 17 gangers and 78 storekeeper-gaugers.

"PROF." J. NEWT CRAIG is teaching a class of some 20 young people how to trip the light fantastic. The hall over Ramsey's livery stable is being used by him. The professor found that the butcher business did not pay, so he took a step from the ridiculous to the sublime.

THE League of American Wheelmen will meet at Harrodsburg to-day and tomorrow. There will be races between the champions on the Fair grounds, a grand street parade and a lantern parade at night, with many other attractions thrown in. The Lancaster Band will furnish the music. Messrs. W. H. Wearin, G. L. Penny, T. A. Rice and perhaps others of our wheelmen will go from here.

A MAN who has lived the greater part of his life in hotels and boarding-houses knows how to appreciate an occasional meal outside of them, and he usually makes the most of it. An I. J. man enjoyed the other evening at Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Givens', with delightful company, one of the nicest and best suppers that it has ever been his good fortune to partake. Mrs. Givens is a queen among housekeepers and she has the faculty of dispensing her hospitality in so easy and pleasant a manner as to make her guests feel that it is good to be at her home.

You can't catch your uncle Thomas Jefferson Hatcher napping. At McKinney Saturday night a party of gentlemen went to him and said that unless he declared himself on the free turnpike question he would stand no more show for jailer than a snow ball would in hades. The old man was not to be thrown off his guard, so he readily replied: "It's not for jailers to decide such technicalities, and neighborhood matters at that. Call on your candidates for representative for their positions on that question." And that's all they could get out of the old Thomas Jefferson-Andrew Jackson-Stonewall Jackson democrat.

THE pretty home of Capt. and Mrs. E. T. Rochester was the scene of beauty, loveliness and gallantry Friday night, when Miss Mattie Gano Rochester entertained in honor of her pretty cousin, Miss Mary Lee Rochester, of Independence, Mo. The night was as rare a one as ever came in June, all nature, as well as the man in the moon, seeming to smile on the delightful occasion. The guests, some 50 in number, were composed of young ladies about 20 years of age and with a single exception, and he shall be nameless here forevermore, the young gentlemen were under 25. The young ladies were in full evening dress and a lovelier picture than they presented has never been painted. A feature of the entertainment was a literary contest, for which prizes were offered. A number of designs to represent books of a dozen or more authors, whose names were given, were hung around the walls of the parlor and then each person wrote what seemed to be the resolution of the designs. The contest created much amusement as well as study and resulted in a tie for first prize between Misses Clara Lackey, Sue Baughman and Mary Alcorn, the first named winning by lot. The "booby prize" was given Miss Annie Dishman, who similarly won over Leslie Wilson, their papers showing the fewest number of solutions. Mr. W. G. Lackey presented the prizes, a volume of Shelley's Poems and Mother Goose's Melodies. A nice lunch of salads, sandwiches, ice, cake, &c., was served and heartily enjoyed, after which tete-a-tetes were resumed till midnight, when the happy party took a reluctant leave. Miss Rochester was assisted in entertaining by Misses Jennie and Marie Warren who proved themselves able lieutenants. The occasion was one of rare enjoyment and the little hostess, who never looked handsomer, was the recipient of heartfelt expressions of gratitude from all who were present.

-Guley & Son, of Garrard, bought of various parties in that county, a carload of butcher cattle at 3 to 3 1/2c.

-Logan Denny is going to ride Mr. E. P. Woods' Eagle Bird in the contest for the $300 saddle purse and is certain of winning the big part of it. He is working him daily and says he is going like a top.

Stanford Female College.

Prof. J. M. Hubbard has selected the faculty for next session as follows.

Miss Josephine Forrest, who is to be the presiding teacher at the College, has been principal of her own school several years at Mebane, N. C. She was an experienced teacher before entering the Peabody Normal College, at Nashville, where she was graduated in 1889. Miss Forrest comes with the indorsement of such capable instructors as Chancellor Payne, of the Peabody Normal, and Major Robert Bingham, of Bingham School. Prof. Hubbard has a letter from Major Bingham, with whom he is personally acquainted, in which that gentleman speaks in the highest terms of Miss Forrest's capabilities as a teacher, her tact in the management of a school and the good judgment exercised in her intercourse with the public.

Miss N. Virginia Jackson, of Tennessee, who is to have charge of the primary department, was for some time connected with the City Schools of Chattanooga, but has spent the past year in studying at the State Normal School at Oswego, N. Y. She is well recommended by the faculty of that famous institution for the instruction of teachers.

Miss Lucy A. Johns, of Van Wert, Ohio, was carefully prepared for Wellesley, but was graduated at the University of Wooster, where she stood high in literature, music and modern languages. She will teach instrumental and vocal music and have charge of the classes in French and German. Miss Johns has fine vocal attainments.

Miss Sue S. Millhouser, of Pennsylvania, was trained at the New England Conservatory of Music and has had experience in teaching voice culture and instrumental music. With Miss Millhouser and Miss Johns in charge, the music department of the College will be equal to that of any other College in Kentucky.

Miss Inez Abernathy, of Arkansas, will have charge of the department of elocution and art. She is a successful teacher of much experience and presents testimonials as to character and qualifications from the faculty of the Cincinnati Art Academy.

In selecting the faculty for next year the management of the College has taken time and care to make a happy combination of talent, attainments and experience. From a great number of applicants for each position, these ladies have been selected because of their special fitness for the places to be filled. The object is to maintain the present high standard in all departments and if possible improve it.
